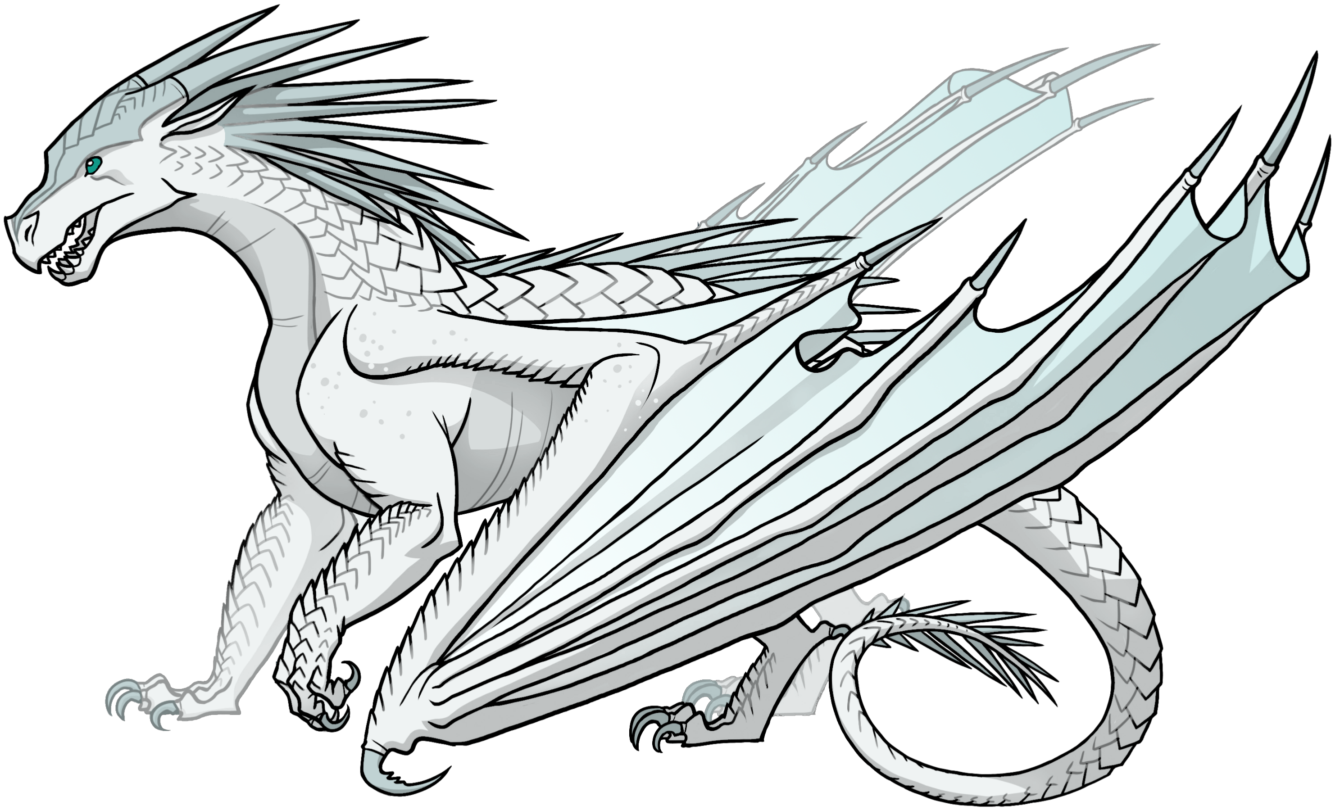
Fractal II

Created by: BookwormButterfly
Tribe: IceWing
Gender: Female
Age: 3
Abilities: Can withstand subzero temperatures and bright lights; exhale a deadly frost breath
Personality: Fractal is very intelligent. However, she is also somewhat idealistic and unusually power-hungry. She can be unsympathetic at times, and plans to conquer Pyrrhia (or at least the Ice Kingdom). She is also stubborn, nervous, sweet, and shouty when she gets upset.
Status: Alive
Other Information: She was adopted by Darkslasher by order of her mother, Commander Fractal. It is unknown why she choose him for this job.



Liutenant Colonel Frazil

Created by: BookwormButterfly
Tribe: IceWing
Gender: Female
Age: 9
Abilities: Can withstand subzero temperatures and bright lights; exhale a deadly frost breath
Status: Alive
Other Information: She was adopted by Darkslasher by order of her mother, Commander Fractal. It is unknown why she choose him for this job.

Personality: Frazil has nerves of steel and a tendency to snap when upset. She can easily sit still and act polite for the formal things. While she carries a bit less of the typical IceWing haughtiness, Frazil still believes her tribe's art, ettiquette, and military outrank everyone else's (on that second one she might be correct.) Frazil adresses all superiors as 'sir' regardless of gender. If they demand, she'll use 'ma'am' or 'mx', but ‘sir’ is her automatic response. Sometimes it kicks in randomly when she’s not addressing superiors-she tends to address her one-year-old cousin as ‘sir’ by accident. She’ll also be slightly inclined to show off, though she’ll make sure to do it subtly. She usually tries to minimize collateral damage, although sometimes it’s unavoidable. When she’s upset, she can be violent, but she can equally be the reasonable one making sure nobody throws anybody else off a cliff, albeit rather strictly. On the subject of animus magic, she also has an animus phobia. She’s near always a little on edge among unknown animi, and she will usually refuse any magic unless she trusts the animus a lot or needs it. Frazil loves being around small dragonets about a year old, especially ones that can’t speak yet. She holds a lot of attitudes I would call…conservative IceWing. She feels like Snowfall is an immature queen who’s far too radical. The destruction of the Great Ice Cliff was tolerable to her, yes. The Ice Kingdom’s subzero temperatures would probably get rid of invaders anyway. The rankings system, far less tolerable. Yes, it was a significant burden on mental health, and she recognizes that to a degree, but it was still an important part of IceWing society. It distinguished the sophisticated and uniform IceWing tribe from the chaotic, disorderly other tribes. Besides, in her view, destroying it it was a futile measure. Invisible barriers of class and ancestry and (slightly more visibly) rank still divide her tribe (and most other tribes, honestly.) You can see that in how she introduces herself: “Liutenant Colonel Frazil, formerly of the Third Circle.” Frazil feels that anti-RainWing sentiment is an overrated issue for dragonets to argue about, given that most RainWings are optimistic, sleepy fruit-eaters anyway. She isn’t overly averse to hybrids-she recognizes they’re still dragons-but she still believes there should be a degree of “purity” to the tribes, not hybrids everywhere. She has little respect for thieves or criminals, and feels that MudWings are the most inferior of the tribes (they live in the /mud/, after all.) Frazil has a very similar seriousness and rationale to Knowledge, actually, but she’s less likely to take teasing seriously. She also feels a far smaller need to address every single issue-she’s willing to let a lot more slide.

Note: Bookworm you wrote so much I had to give her an additional page. My goodness. - DarkslasherTheDragon

Knowledge

Created by: BookwormButterfly
Tribe: 15/16 NightWing, 1/16 RainWing
Gender: Female
Age: 9
Abilities: can breathe fire, disappear into dark shadows, can shoot a mild venom from her fangs that stings but doesn’t melt
Personality: Bright, orderly, and somewhat strict. Turns to violence easily. Questionable morals. A thinker and a strategist, generally willing to go with what Darkslasher wants. She’s perfectly willing to attack dragons, especially ones who threaten her friends. She’s also stubborn and tends to take teasing literally. Knowledge has a sarcastic edge sometimes, as well as a strict ‘teacher’ side and a need to correct grammatical errors and spelling mistakes. She is an ambivert. She’s a smart dragon who would be perfectly willing to throw someone through a window.

Personality: She's a little crazy, extremely unpredictable, impulsive, and doesn't consider consequences. Her insults, which she uses often, tend to go like this: "I hope a troop of marauding leeks eats you!" Overall, though, I would say she has a decent enough soul and plenty of courage.
